Fantastic "Biomedical" Progress in my family

In 2004 my 17yr was diagnosed with ADHD, my 9yr old son was diagnosed with Mild Autism and a Pragmatic Semantic Language disorder, my 5yr old daughter was diagnosed with Autism and Severe global developmental delay, my 7yr old daughter was diagnosed with a severe language disorder and in 2006 my 3yr old daughter was diagnosed with mild to moderate Autism and Global developmental delay what the psychologist and paediatricians didn't notice was the autoimmune system disorders, severe vitamin and mineral deficiencies, the multiple food intolerances, allergies, eczema, yeast overgrowth, sleep disorders, chronic leaky gut and constant fluctuations between constipation and diarrhoea!!

When I started the biomedical approach in 2006 by changing their diet to a gluten free, casein free, sugar free, preservatives, artificial colours, flavours, and additives free diet, and supplements to address their vitamin and mineral deficiencies the results were amazing!!!

My 17 yr old starting doing well in class, he was able to focus better and has just finished his HSC and he feels confident about his results, my 9yr old who had previously taken 3 years to get to level 9 in reading is now on level 18 and his speech has improved so much that his Grandparents who used to have difficulty understanding him on the phone are now able to have long conversations, my 7yr old who could not read or write in the previous year was now on level 9 for reading and doing really well in her mainstream class, my 5yr old has doubled her vocabulary and is now able to understand 1-2 part instructions and has learnt to ride a bike independently, she also called me Mummy for the first time(something I have dreamed of for a very long time!!!), my 3yr old who suffered from numerous Urinary tract infections has not had one since and is improving in both language and social skills!!

Before we started Biomedical Protocols we had done speech therapy and special play groups but until we started getting their bodies healthy they found it hard to learn, now they are just getting better and better and their future is so much brighter!
